Exhibition overview

The Society for Arthroscopy and Joint Surgery is a scientific association of physicians and scientists interested in arthroscopy and companies active in this field. AGA now has more than 3900 members and is thus Europe's largest professional society for arthroscopy.

The goals of the AGA are:

- To help and encourage young arthroscopists
- To foster close contact and mutual exchange among physicians practising arthroscopy
- To establish contacts with other societies whose interests coincide or overlap
- To focus on practical issues in arthroscopy
- To promote quality control

The AGA's annual congress, its programme of grants and awards, the journal Arthroskopie, and 14 committees offer a platform for all physicians interested in arthroscopy.
