Exhibition overview

The European Association of Nuclear Medicine (EANM) is the umbrella organisation of nuclear medicine in Europe. The Association aims to advance science and education in nuclear medicine for the benefit of public health and to promote and co-ordinate discussion and exchange of ideas and results relating to the diagnosis, treatment, research and prevention of diseases through the use of unsealed radioactive substances and the properties of stable nuclides in medicine. The goal of the EANM is to provide a suitable medium for the dissemination and discussion of the latest results in the field of nuclear medicine and related subjects.

EANM's annual congress is a forum for scientific exchange as well as for business and personal networking, attracting about 5.500 participants. The congress is well established and recognised by colleagues - and is seen by industry - as the foremost marketplace for nuclear medicine products throughout Europe. In 2014, the congress will take place in Gothenburg, Sweden.
