Exhibition overview

The European Association for Cardiovascular Prevention and Rehabilitation (EACPR) is hosting the EuroPrevent conference in Amsterdam in May 2014. It is focussed on preventative cardiology. The theme is "Global Cardiovascular Health." Cardiovascular disease has become a world problem. There are more cardiovascular deaths in India and China than in all developed countries together.

EuroPrevent brings the finest international health experts together to present their research and translate it into usable knowledge for practitioners, health care workers, researchers, and policy makers. The 2014 meeting will emphasize the global approaches to prevention. Joint sessions with local, European and International Associations, focusing on the various existing prevention and implementation methods and programmes will be included.
