Exhibition overview

SEUD's objective is to focus attention on a group of diseases that negatively affect women's health and fertility, including endometriosis, adenomyosis, uterine fibroids, polyps, heavy menstrual bleeding and uterine malformations.

The theme of the Congress is Adenomyosis: new vision for an old challenge. The Scientific Committee has developed a Scientific Program that will ensure the participation of the most relevant speakers and present the latest clinical advances as well as international developments in research, practice and treatment.

The program will incorporate a Live Surgery Session and attendees will have opportunity to direct questions to the surgeons during the demonstrations.

Exhibition details

The Program will cover the following topics in Plenary Sessions:

Adenomyosis: the modern diagnosis

Relationship between adenomyosis and endometriosis; Adenomyosis and infertility

Endometriosis: specific issues in daily practice

Abnormal uterine bleeding: from adolescence to perimenopause

Uterine fibroids: current and future treatment.

Furthermore, three Debates on Controversial topics, a Pre-congress Course on Imaging and six different Tips and Tricks Practical Sessions will be held during the Congress days.
