Exhibition overview

The annual World Congress on Controversies in Ophthalmology (COPHy) brings to the forefront controversial issues related to the field of Ophthalmology. The Congress is devoted to evidence-based debates and discussions amongst chairpersons, speakers and the audience, all of whom will examine and analyze the most relevant issues raised during the course of the year within the field of ophthalmology. The COPHy focus is primarily within the fields of Anterior Segment, Glaucoma, and Retina sections, and also presents controversies in other areas of ophthalmology, such as Neuro-Ophthalmology. The sections are developed by key professionals to address relevant and challenging issues in Ophthalmology each year.
