Exhibition overview

The Endourological Society's annual World Congress of Endourology (WCE) is considered to be the world's premier endourological meeting. The WCE's aim to concentrate on the growing field of minimally invasive urological surgery has had a positive impact on Congress attendance in recent years, and we look forward to hosting this premier event in London where we are expecting record numbers of delegates in 2015.

The scientific programme is being developed under the very able leadership of Adrian Joyce; the Scientific Committee includes members of the BAUS Sections of Endourology and Oncology in conjunction with other international groups including ESUT and ERUS. We have an exciting programme in store with state of the art lectures, vibrant and engaging guest orators as well as offering superlative educational opportunities. Our Faculty, drawn from key opinion leaders and innovators as well as upcoming talented young endourologists will share their experience, expertise, enthusiasm and the latest research with you.
