Exhibition overview

The International Society of Gynecological Endocrinology is a non-profit organisation established in 1986 for the purpose of promoting science and research into all aspects of gynecological endocrinology and communication between scientists interested in these subjects.

The Society operates through the monthly Journal of Gynecological Endocrinology, the monthly newsletter GynEndo News and a biannual World Congress, which is a major scientific event attracting around 2,500 delegates from Europe, the USA, Asia, Africa and Oceania.

Exhibition details

Gynecological Endocrinology covers all areas where hormones are active, from sub cellular effects to actions at different organs level, from reproductive tissues to the brain, from bone to heart, from sensory organs to the skin and mucosa.

The impact on metabolism, aging processes, tissue regeneration and stem cells, are important areas of interest for the Society.

The scientific programme is available on the website.
