Exhibition overview

Pathology is undergoing many important changes from within and from the outside. By using novel techniques we are gaining better understanding of diseases, enabling us to make better diagnoses. Geneticists, molecular biologists, bioinformaticians, and information technologists are providing us with novel tools and knowledge that is improving our work.

The theme for the 2015 ECP congress, Pathology, breaking barriers in medicine, is therefore very timely: as pathologists we have many interactions with other disciplines and the evolution of our field has impact on medical decisions in everyday practice.
