Exhibition overview

The theme of the congress is 'From molecular biology to social science and politics'. The aim is to respond to the multi-dimensional aspects of contraception and reproductive health in general as one of the most important contributing factors to women's health is the right for all women everywhere on this globe:

• to decide when to have a child and how many children to have, by accessing contraceptive methods that meet their needs;

• to have a safe and protected pregnancy and delivery by accessing adequate obstetric care;

• to enjoy their sexual life and be protected from violence and abuse by secure sexual rights for women and access to sexual health care.

To achieve this aim, professionals of very different and distinct specialities must work together, exchange ideas, discuss and take action. This congress will provide the opportunity to create and maintain multidisciplinary networks between individuals, organisations and continents.
