Exhibition overview

The European Society of Gastrointestinal and Abdominal Radiology (ESGAR) is a not-for-profit, educational and scientific organisation founded by radiologists working in close association with gastroenterologists, hepatologists, abdominal surgeons, pathologists, and other allied specialists. Its members have a special interest in the imaging and treatment of patients with diseases of the gastrointestinal tract and associated abdominal organs.

The aims of the Society are:

- To advance the study of gastrointestinal and abdominal imaging and intervention, in Europe, by encouraging radiological and clinical excellence, teaching, research and further education in the subspecialty,

- To encourage the harmonious interchange and integration of all European radiologists with an interest in this field,

- To create links with abdominal radiologists from other continents and with other Societies in the fields of abdominal surgery, gastroenterology, hepatology and other allied specialties.

ESGAR holds annual meetings that attract audiences of over 1000 attendees. The 25th Annual Meeting and Postgraduate Course will take place in Salzburg, Austria in 2014. The topic of the Postgraduate Course is "Vascular imaging in the abdomen: techniques and indications"
