Exhibition overview

Starting in 1974 in Rio de Janeiro, the International Academy of Human Reproduction (IAHR) has held successful World Congresses every three years in Europe, Asia, Africa, the Americas and Australia. The Congress promotes excellence in reproduction and aims to bridge gaps between the expansion of information and its implementation in clinical practice.

The Fellows of the Academy are selected among those applicants from the fields of clinical medicine, medical and biological sciences, and other fields related to reproductive health and medicine. Fellows are elected on basis of their singular and significant contributions to the field and they must be acknowledged as world leaders in their discipline.

The provisional scientific programme is online.
